MEMORANDUM FOR 6-8-C20B (BOLC) Students, Fort Sam Houston, Texas 78234

SUBJECT: Army Medical Department Basic Officer Leader Course (AMEDD BOLC)

1. Welcome to the Army Medical Department (AMEDD), and congratulations on your Commission! You will be assigned to Alpha Company, 187th Medical Battalion for the duration of your Basic Officer Leader Course (BOLC) training. My name is CPT Bradley J. Gregory, and I will be your Company Commander.
2. Your focus here at the Army Medical Department Center & School (AMEDDC&S) will be discipline, teamwork, basic soldier skills, tactical medical doctrine, and learning the principles of being a resilient and adaptive, agile leader. This course is designed to instruct you in the "basics" of being an AMEDD officer. It will greatly assist you in making your transition into the Army a smooth one. This course will provide you with an increased understanding of the U.S. Army, its various missions and most importantly, how you contribute to the success of those missions.
3. If you have any questions or concerns that this welcome letter does not address, please email usarmy.jbsa.medcom-ameddcs.mbx.bolc@mail.mil or call (210) 221-8355 or (210) 221-6714/6707/6319.
4. Reporting. It is preferred that you report between 0900-1300 hours on your report date. Upon arrival to Fort Sam Houston, you are to report to BLDG 592 for lodging and further instructions. I highly recommend arriving early in order to begin in-processing, as well as, getting settled into lodging. The lodging point of contact for students arriving after 1700hrs (5 p.m.) can be reached at (210) 557-6032 or (210) 439-5838. Instructions for the following day's activities will be posted at the front desk of the IHG hotel for all late arrivals.
